

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A network device may extract overhead data from a frame and send the extracted overhead data to an external programmable device. The programmable device may modify the 5 extracted overhead data. Upon receiving the modified overhead data, the network device can insert it into said frame.

30084063.doc